

Our Mission:

Wild Valor is a holistic non-profit organization that focuses on the body, mind and spirit of combat veterans, who have wounds both seen and unseen, by exposing them to outdoor expeditions of hunting, fishing, ultimately creating a life-long brotherhood and bond.

We aim to help combat veterans overcome mental health challenges through in-depth fellowship, programmed peer-to-peer mentoring and experiences in the outdoors that help them rediscover purpose.

Why Wild Valor?

Our veterans today face unprecedented challenges even after all they have sacrificed to protect our freedoms. Their dedication and valor have placed them in hostile environments to stand in the gap so we would be safe, yet their return home is no less challenging. Many combat veterans say that the American public has “little awareness” of the challenges facing them and their families. Wild Valor is here to aid in the veteran’s recovery process.
