Alderfer Auction Presents December 12th Fine and Decorative Arts Auction Featuring Edward Redfield's Masterpiece "Brookville"

Rare Opportunity to Acquire Works by Pioneering American Impressionists and Influential Artists

Hatfield, PA, Nov. 18th, 2024—Alderfer Auction is thrilled to announce its upcoming December 12th Fine and Decorative Arts Auction, showcasing an exceptional collection of artworks by renowned American Impressionists and influential artists of the early 20th century. Highlights include Edward Redfield's masterpiece "Brookville", along with significant works by Walter E. Baum, John Folinsbee, Melville Stark, Kenneth Nunamaker, Alfred Nunamaker, and Thomas Pollock Anshutz.

A Rare Opportunity to Own Edward Redfield's "Brookville"

Edward Redfield, a leading figure among the New Hope Impressionists, is celebrated for his bold landscapes and pioneering "one go" painting technique. "Brookville" exemplifies his mastery in capturing the rugged beauty of the American landscape with dynamic brushwork. This painting offers collectors and institutions a unique chance to acquire a significant piece of American art history.

Featuring Works by Influential Artists

In addition to Redfield's "Brookville," the auction will feature:

- Thomas Pollock Anshutz (1851–1912): A mentor to Redfield, Anshutz's works provide a deeper connection to the artistic lineage that shaped American Impressionism.
- Walter E. Baum: His vibrant depictions of rural Pennsylvania reflect the influence of Redfield's plein-air methods.
- John Folinsbee: Known for atmospheric landscapes, Folinsbee adopted dynamic compositions characteristic of Redfield's style.
- Melville Stark: His paintings showcase the serene beauty of Bucks County with strong contrasts and rich textures.
- Kenneth Nunamaker: Celebrated for luminous portrayals of the countryside, his works combine expressive brushwork with sensitivity to light.
- Alfred Nunamaker: Continuing his father's legacy, his compositions capture the tranquil charm of rural life.
